LITTLE THEATRE GROUP ORGANIZED; PRACTICE BEGINS

FORTY THREE PERSONS
START ACTIVITY; PLAY
"LITTLE WOMEN" CHOSEN

CENTERVILLE — The Little Theater of Washington Township got off to a flying start last Friday night when 43 people attended the organization meeting at the Country Club of Washington Township. Officers have been elected and temporary casting of roles in "Little Women" has taken place.

Russel Ross of Niles was named manager with Berkeley Buckingham of the WPA recreational department as director. A. B. Leaske and Dr. T. C. Wilson of Niles were chosen secretary-treasurer and publicity chairman respectively. By-laws were adopted and all those interested are invited to join by paying a membership fee of $1. Warren Jones was made properties' chairman and "Junior Batchelor," popular canine actor was named the mascot.

Roles for "Little Women" will be taken by members of the high school and younger college set who have chosen to devote a part of their vacation time to dramatics. It is expected that the play will be given about September 19, the first rehearsal being held Tuesday night at the Country Club which is to be official headquarters of the dramatic organization.

Prompters for the first play will be Betty Murphy and Catherine Jones. Winnie Bendel and Jane Stanhope will have charge of costumes.

The organization of the little theater movement follows the enthusiastic reception given the recent play, "Leave it to Mother," given by the Niles P. T. A. under the presidency of Mrs. Reginald Calhoun.

FIESTA DANCE PROFITS STOLEN SATURDAY NIGHT

CENTERVILLE — A theft and a loss amounting to about $126 were reported to Deputy Sheriff Tom Silva Monday—one involving the loss of $106, profits from the St. John's fiesta dance held at Newark last Saturday night and the other $20 and a purse belonging to Yuliko Ando, 22, maid in the home of Judge Allen G. Norris.

A. E. Francis reported that the money from the dance had been taken home while waiting for banks to open on Monday. While the family was out for a short time Saturday night some one cut a rear window screen and took the money from a dresser drawer. Nothing else in the house was disturbed.

Yuliko had just cashed a check for $20 and had gone to visit her mother on the Stevenson ranch. She left the purse on the fender and drove off, suddenly remembering but finding only dust marks on the fender indicating the purse had fallen off. A search along the highway failed to furnish any clues.

CENTERVILLE BOARD TO OPEN BIDS FOR NEW SCHOOL

CENTERVILLE — Bids for the construction of a new $80,000 grammar school for Centerville will be opened at a meeting of the board on Tuesday, July 16, at 2:30 o'clock, according to Judge Allen G. Norris, clerk of the board.

The new building is to be placed on the present school site. It is tentatively planned to tear away the rear half of the old building to make way for the new and to house classes in the front half of the main building and the small annex during construction. A bond issue was voted recently to finance the construction program, the present building having been condemned because of earthquake hazard.

In the course of making his hourly rounds at night, he will be glad to look at temporarily vacant premises if residents will notify him of their absence.

Liberty Forever

"Liberty Forever" were the words the patriots told each other in 1776 when the majestic tones of the Liberty Bell proclaimed the signing of the Declaration of Independence. They are still the watchwords of American patriots today. Here you see the new and retiring presidents of the Sons of the Revolution as they visited Liberty Bell in Independence Hall, Philadelphia, recently, dedicating themselves anew to the cause of freedom for which their forefathers fought. Reading from left to right: William T. Van Alstyne, New York, the new president; Lieut. Col. John B. Richards, Fall River, Mass., retiring president; Judge Edwin O. Lewis of Philadelphia who presided at opening session of the society's convention.

NEWARK TRUSTEES INVESTIGATE COST OF NEW SCHOOL

NEWARK — Newark may be added to the communities of Washington Township which are constructing new modern school plants, it developed this week when M. D. Silva, trustee, said that an engineer had been employed to survey the building as to cost of repairs. The building has been condemned by the State Department of Architecture as being hazardous in case of earthquake.

The Newark school was built in 1915 and when the new school at Centerville has been built will be the oldest in the township with the exception of the one-room school at Alviso. A new $25,000 building will be completed at Alviso in time for fall opening of classes and bids are being advertised for a new $80,000 plant at Centerville. New schools have been built during the past year at Irvington and at Niles and another at Warm Springs about five years ago. Buildings at Mission San Jose, Decoto and Alvarado have been overhauled and brought up to state standards during the past few years while a steady program of repair and enlargement has been going on at the high school.

Cost of repairs necessary to bring the Newark school up to state standards will determine whether to repair or to construct a new building, Silva said.

Miss Marjorie Inglehart, who graduated this year from San Jose State College has been elected as a new teacher at Newark.

HIGH SCHOOL HEARS PROPOSAL TO TEACH BASIC AERONAUTICS

CENTERVILLE — A proposal that Washington Union High School inaugurate a class room course in aviation was made by Principal A. J. Rathbone at a recent meeting of the board of trustees. The matter was taken under advisement as members of the board had varying attitudes toward the proposition.

The suggestion was that instruction be confined to a class that would teach the fundamentals of aeronautics.

ROTARY CHANGES PRESIDENTS AT COMIC CEREMONY

A double ceremony of "booting out" the old president, E. F. Glassbrook, and inducting into office, the new, George Smith of Decoto, took place at last Thursday's meeting of the Niles Rotary Club at the Hotel Belvoir. This was also the occasion for entertaining office assistants of Rotarians who had helped with various projects during the past year.

C. W. Kraft was master of ceremonies and numerous remarks witty and "scurrilous" were made regarding the out-going president who was made to sit in the corner by himself behind a black flag signifying his departure from authority. Those testifying to the utter ineffectiveness of the past year's leadership were Al Fraga of Hayward, Ed Enos, E. D. Bristow, Robert Blacow, Jack Vieux, Dick Attinger, E. E. Dias and Clarence Crane. Orland Close of Hayward presented an "unpresentable" present to the retiring president and the gavel was officially turned over to the new president.

Special guests were Isola Moise and Alice Lindblom of the California Pottery company, Gertrude Enos of the P. C. Hansen Lumber company, Kathryn G. Bliss of the water office, Lillian M. Loblaw of the California Nursery company and Gladys Williamson of The Oakland Tribune. Each was presented by Ed Enos with a box of candy from the club in appreciation for services during the past year. The meeting was a record-breaking one in attendance including a large delegation from Hayward and J. Lee Hewitt, chief of the Bureau of Nursery Service at Sacramento and his assistant, Fred March who was superintendent of the California Nursery company 15 years ago.

The board purchased a new calculating machine for the commercial department. This makes complete the program for office equipment for practice of commercial students, all types of mechanical office devices to be found in any business office being available for local students.

State Grants Big Sum For County Fair; Flood Control Project Planned At Niles

The State Of California has allocated the sum of $150,000 as a free gift towards developing the permanent improvements at the Alameda County fair grounds, Supervisor George P. Hellwig took pleasure in announcing to the Niles Junior Chamber of Commerce at their dinner meeting Monday evening.

The county has bought the fair grounds of 100 acres, including the race track, stables for 300 horses, water system, etc. for $40,000, and the state will match this sum, making $190,000 available for property improvements, the supervisor said.

This money is not tax payers' money, but comes from the state's cut of pari-mutuel betting on state tracks, which has provided the state the sum of $800,000 cash on hand just at present.

The supervisor explained that other county fair associations had not been able to qualify in their applications for grants, inasmuch as this state-granted money can only be used for permanent improvements. In from three to five years Alameda will have one of the finest county fair plants in the state, he said.

The speaker announced that the new grandstand heretofore announced to be ready for use by fair-going crowds this month, at the last moment could not be authorized, because the only bid received for the construction was not in legal order.

—More Street Lights

Further good news was brought by Mr. Hellwig when he announced that Niles may have from three to five more street lights, as soon as a joint committee from both of Niles' Chambers could settle upon the location for the additional lights.

Vice-chairman Edward Enos appointed L. L. Lewis chairman of a light committee for the Junior Chamber, with Louis Di Guilio and John Parr as members.

The county is preparing to spend from $60,000 to $70,000 this summer and fall on a flood control construction job designed to spare Niles from future flood difficulties, he said. It will be a contract job, worked out between the state, the Southern Pacific Railway, and the county, each of which owns property in the district concerned.

Another project of more than local interest was announced by the supervisor when he said an old bridge near the west approach to Livermore is to be replaced with a modern structure, work to start after August 1.

—Seeks Annual Grant

The county plans to ask the January legislature for an annual grant of money to pay the running expenses of the fair, he said.

It was announced that 14 amateur acts from Washington Township would go to the fair this month to participate in the elimination contest for county amateur talent.

Regular Chamber business included introduction of guests, Supervisor Hellwig and Deputy Sheriff John Nunes; welcome to a new member, Herbert Carr; announcement by President Henry Vervais, who had to leave early, that the county fair had asked that Washington Township take a booth at a cost of $50; statement by Mr. Hellwig that Chambers of Commerce were entitled to a free booth at the fair;

—Floats For Parade

A request by Clarence Crane that he be notified of any floats or decorated automobiles which will participate in the fair parade on July 28; A report of Scout activities read by L. L. Lewis; the chamber's thanks expressed to Fred Duffie and John Parr for cleaning up the hillside NILES sign; a suggestion by the vice-chairman that the Junior Chamber plan a program to celebrate the opening of the new Niles Canyon approach road, now under construction; Herbert Carr appointed chairman, with Bill Alameda and Vernon Ellsworth as a committee to work on this proposal; the sum of $5 voted sent to the Red Cross upon suggestion of Treasurer L. Bain;

Announcement by Supervisor Hellwig that all lanes, streets and byways in unincorporated areas of Alameda County will soon be marked by signs; and a motion carried that the entire membership meet on a day to be named to assist in repairing the cement side-hill sign, with absentees fined 50 cents, motion made by John Parr.

BLESS THE ENGLISH CHANNEL!

England has an ally in the presence of the English channel which our Americas enjoy with our two oceans.

Hitler's conquest of France in a few short weeks was spectacular and makes a record in military annals: yet in France he had no natural barriers to surmount other than rivers.

The channel is about 22 miles wide and presents a serious problem for nazi strategy to surmount. The Huns cant go under it; they have not many large ships by means of which to cross it. A sudden dash of troop-carrying speed boats, accompanied by troop-carrying airplanes will no doubt constitute their method of attack: attempted in the dark of the moon, of course. The moon is dark this present week of July. Big guns cannot be transported by airplanes or in small speed-boats, and mobile big guns were the primary weapon sued in the defeat of France.

So the Huns will have to depend on masses of men, transported quickly, and the element of surprise as to what part or parts of England they plan to land upon, and when.

England has para "shooting" corps on duty on every square mile of her soil. For the rest her defense can depend only on large bodies of troops, tanks and guns which can be transported quickly to any given spot or spots of seacoast.

The element of time is of vital importance. Say the sun dawns some morning this week or next on a large concentration of nazi troops entrenching themselves on some area of the English coast. A major force is sent for to clean them out; the question is, how long does it take the major force to reach the point of invasion, and swing into action?

While the British defense force is reaching the trouble area more nazis are arriving every minute. So time is the essence of successful military resistance by the British.

The nazi strategy will be to make a large landing effort at one spot hoping, knowing, the British will hurl all their effectiveness into that one spot. Thereupon the nazis will simultaneously make larger landing efforts at scores of spots far removed from the original landing site: successfully throwing the British defenses into confusion.

If Mother England has learned anything from the Debacle of Flanders she will not again put all her eggs in one basket.

Of course there will be huge nazi aerial bombardments, wave after wave, to fully engage the Royal Air Force, to prevent the latter from bombing and ground-strafting the landing troops.

That will be the general plan; both invader and invaded will partially succeed in attaining their objectives . . . and the slaughter will be fearful, though more among the Germans, who will be more vulnerable and exposed than the British.

Other factors to aid the British, which factors—properly combined—should and even may resist the invasion, include 1. mine fields in the channel; 2. the Royal Air Force and 3. the British Navy.

As for the mine fields: if the mines are anchored 10 feet below the surface and the German speedboats only draw four feet of water, the mines cease to be a defensive factor for England. If the nazis use transports these will be preceded by mine sweepers. This is where cruisers and other fast units of the British navy come in.

Editorial Page of the Township Register

Lastly, the British air force, which one understands is maintaining a constant observation vigil, should, either by day or by night, be able to spot any mass movement of boats across the channel as soon as they start, thus giving the English defense forces an hour or more of warning.

First and last, the little strip of sea-water provides Hitler and his tacticians with a major obstacle. Be sure they will use their hellish ingenuity to master it. England however, with any tactical skill and any luck at all in having the proper weapons and men at the necessary place at the exact time needed, has every chance not only to repel the invasion(s), but to take heavy toll of the enemy.

Mighty England for a thousand years has somehow "muddled through". Let all civilized peoples pray her muddling days are over in this her hour of trial by combat.

"As England goes so goes civilization"! — W.W.

Improvements Made In The Register's Plant

Although I have not been successful, thus far, in locating a suitable building to move to, — something with concrete floor, an office, and windows all around, I am still in hopes of finding better quarters.

Meantime, three of the buildings I have looked at all have been occupied during the past month! The former Niles Machine Shop is now the Winter's Welding Works; the former Peterson the Plumber location on Main street is now occupied by the Niles Tailor shop, and the vacant building Mrs. Marjorie Moore offered to fix up for my use is being improved for use as a beverage warehouse.

I have been successful, however, in locating and buying a number of pieces of new, or good used items of printing machinery and equipment, all of which is now in use in our plant, as follows:

A modern double type cabinet with 40 cases, filled with some 70 fonts (faces) of almost new and entirely modern joy type;

A modern proof press with steel stand;

Eight new six-column chases made to order by the Centerville Machine Shop;

A new 4-column by 18 inch casting box with gas burner and electric pre-heating unit;

A new steel 50-galley storage cabinet for standing forms; numbered and indexed.

A variable speed motor for our small job press;

A new lead and slug cutter;

A serviceable reglet cabinet, which gives us two such;

Twenty new steel narrow galleys;

For the office: a used adding machine, an almost new typewriter and a new steel 4-drawer filing cabinet.

Ordered but not yet received: a new ultra-modern high speed bench saw for cutting metal, which will trim to a gnat's whisker, right or left handed;

Dickering now for an automatic 12x18 job press, — one which "feeds" itself.

Still to locate: a multiple-deck later model linotype in good condition.

All of which means practically every important unit in the plant I bought two months ago has been or is being replaced; and it adds up to a sizeable capital investment.

It is still my objective to give Washington Township the best publishing and printing plant the Township has ever known: producing satisfactory work at going prices, delivered on the day promised.

Meantime, it is gratifying how the work holds up and I am enjoying life at Niles more and more each day, thanks to pleasant relations with old customers, and new. — W.W.

Here's a chance to display your airudition (ouch!) the next time you hear or read of an airplane "zooming down out of the sky." Airplanes zoom in only one direction — UP.

Christian Science Churches

"Christian Science" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon Sunday, June 30, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The Golden Text was: "The prophecy came not in old time by the will of man: but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost" (II Peter 1: 21). Other Bible citations included: "Jesus cried and said, He that believeth on me, believeth not on me, but on him that sent me . . . I am come a light into the world, that whosoever believeth on me should not abide in darkness" (John 12: 44, 46).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christian Science is dawning upon a material age. The great spiritual facts of being, like rays of light, shine in the darkness, though the darkness, comprehending them not, may deny their reality. The proof that the system stated in this book is Christianly scientific resides in the good this system accomplishes, for it cures on a divine demonstrable Principle which all may understand" (p. 546).

COURTESY — It is greatly appreciated in this office when a Township Register subscriber comes in to make payment, or in the case of an error in billing, kindly explains what the status of his or her subscription may be.

In the commendable effort to put our subscription list on a strictly paid basis, every person whose name now appears on our list, has now received a bill.

In the event payment had been made to one of my predecessors, who carelessly left no record of the transaction, any subscriber's word is good, so far as I am concerned.

It is embarrassing to both parties when mistakes occur, and I greatly appreciate it when subscribers come in in a friendly way and straighten out their bills.

Bills will go out regularly on the first of the month hereafter; payments will be credited carefully, receipts given in every case, and "stop" orders will be observed immediately upon receipt.

Decoto Discussion Group Enjoys Book Of Esther

DECOTO — The Decoto Discussion Group held its regular meeting one week early on June 28, instead of July 5, at the home of Mrs Amy Brown. A luncheon was served in the garden at noon by the hostess, assisted by Mrs Evelyn Joseph and Mrs Peggy Whipple.

The program was in charge of Mrs Elsa Walker and took the form of an informal discussion of the Book of Esther along the lines of plot technique and dramatic quality. The group found the study so enjoyable that they decided to devote one meeting of the year to a literary study of some part of the Bible.

The group decided to formulate next year's work along the same general lines as formerly covered. Mrs Ethel Avilla gave a review of 'The Pyramid' by Robert Hitchens' which was an example of careful selection, unity and subtle interpretation which combined to express the atmosphere, introduce the characters and carry the story to its first point of climactic suspense where she left it for the listeners to complete for themselves.

This was an especially happy choice for extra reading as Mrs Avilla will begin the next year's work in September as leader of the opera meeting which is to be a study of Aida.

The next meeting will be in charge of Mrs Leontine Costa and will take the form of a debate on questions suggested by Josephine Lawrence's book, 'If I Have Four Apples.' Mrs Della Childs was a guest.

THE STAR-SPANGLED BANNER

Words by Francis Scott Key.

Music by John Stafford Smith.

SOLO OR QUARTET.

(WNU Service)

How well do you know "The Star Spangled Banner," America's national anthem? Here before you is your opportunity to memorize the thrilling words, to sing the inspiring song, and to play its music. What day more fit than on Independence day to get better acquainted with the deep, inspiring Americanism Francis Scott Key put into his masterpiece as "O'er the ramparts" he watched and saw the flag still proudly waving.

TODAY, as from the very foundation of our nation, Liberty is the American ideal, come down to us these many years purified by the blood of martyrs.

It is this great doctrine of Liberty which distinguishes Americans from any who have not had our long tradition of political and human freedom. And were it preached by tongue most eloquent, the philosophy of repression and oppression, of class against class, of creed against creed, and of human thralldom to a dictatorship, shall ever remain alien under the Stars and Stripes.

Never shall Americans exchange Liberty and Democracy for the slavery of authoritarian ideology. "O'er the ramparts we watch," wrote Francis Scott Key.

"O'er the ramparts we watch" today, too. And as long as we hold to the American ideals of freedom, we shall continue to see our flag "so gallantly streaming."

(EDITORIAL)

WHAT IS HITLER'S OBJECTIVE?

Reading the details of the terms of the axis armistice agreement, one is surprised to find they are not as harsh as was to be expected.

Both Germany and Italy demand the French "fleet" be tied up in French harbors, though both nations decline to use it against England. — Or so the agreement reads.

Germany demands France to pay the cost of maintaining nazi troops quartered on French soil, and pay damages to Germany for the cost of the nazi invasion! That's a corker!

Germany even offers the French the use of their own capital for their seat of government and grants her the use of part of her navy to police her colonies.

Etc. Etc. It is a much more tolerant document than the world had expected to issue from nazi-fascist sources . . . which makes one wonder just WHAT the axis' objective is in over-running innocent by-standing nations on any kind of pretext — to achieve what?

Hitler wants nations run HIS way, and dreams of some sort of mock-peace-under-dictatorship.

Such an objective, attained by what-ever means, does not appeal to free Christian peoples.

Now the drama of the Battle of England is about to unfold; all we can do is sit by and pray mighty England can turn back the Hun invasion.

A SYMPHONY OF MOVEMENT

Light, sound, movement, rhythm and color set to music . . . sticky-fingered contortionists and limp-motion buffoons, coupled with swimming stars of the world and you have Billy Rose's Aquacade at the Exposition.

Music inspires dancing; skating has been set to music, but it was left to Billy Rose to conceive of mass swimming spectacles motivated by music, suffused with color patterns, all in a state of shimmering motion.

The Aquacade is an unique and spirit-laving entertainment, as elevating as grand opera or symphony performances. His perfection of detail is exquisite, the execution is that of ballet dancers in water; the changing color schemes vacillate like moods . . . the Aquacade is a beautiful conception perfectly executed in timing of mass movement, colored with tint blends and contrasts, - conveyed by smashing sound rhythms.

home to the 1940 Exposition, Live Oak Lodge No. 61 of Oakland scored another hit on Monday by acting as host on an excursion to the fair honoring its five home-sponsored members.

In the party were W. B. Standerford, Jacob N. Dineson, George L. Lohr and Mrs Perry M. Riley, who was accompanied by her husband, a member of Lakeshore lodge of Oakland, who became the bride of Mr Riley about a year ago Mrs Jennie L. James, fifth member of the Live Oak lodge home delegation, was unable to make the trip.

With a driver named by Carl James MacIntire, Worshipful Master of Live Oak, whose membership is over 900, the party of jolly excursionists left the home shortly after lunch. They remained on Treasure Island until after the evening fireworks. Transportation, admission to the grounds, cavalcade and the more important side shows, supper etc., all were provided with the compliments of the lodge.

At the leave taking the attention of your correspondent was called to the fact that San Francisco's 33 lodges, Oakland's 21 lodges, exclusive of Live Oak, Berkeley's 9, Alameda's 3 and Richmond's 4 and other lodges of the bay region might bring much happiness to home members by following Live Oak's lead in cases where they are sponsoring members of the home.

The evening was pleasantly spent in playing games and other entertainment. Delicious refreshments were served. He expects to be assigned to work in the Oakland Park system. Mr Bradley is a member of Morning Star Masonic lodge in Stockton. While in the employ of the home he has commuted by stage between Decoto and Oakland where his family resides.

CENTERVILLE — No increase in the tax rate for the Washington Union High School district is anticipated by the board of trustees in spite of the fact that the 1940-41 budget will be $141,000 as compared to $138,000 for the past year. State appropriations based on average daily attendance will take care of the additional fund, according to Principal A. J. Rathbone.

The increase in the budget is necessitated by increased enrollment. Approximately 740 students are expected to enroll next year, including 200 freshmen from Washington Township grammar schools.

C. C. C. Open For Three Thousand California Boys

Announcement was made in San Francisco today by Dayton E. Jones, State Supervisor of Selection for the Civilian Conservation Corps, that the office of the Director, CCC, Washington, D. C., has called for 2597 young Californians between the ages of 17 and 23½ to bring California CCC camps up to full strength.

At this time a CCC enrollment should be particularly attractive to the unemployed young man in the eligible age group. Increased and intensive training along mechanical, radio, communications, clerical, mess, and infirmity lines will make more rapid and effective the instruction for peacetime jobs, as well as developing technicians to fill specific non-combative positions, should aggression come to our shores, rather than fitting men only for the common labor jobs of warfare.

Of additional interest to prospective CCC applicants is the establishment of 63 central repair shops throughout the country, 40 of which are already in operation, using most modern equipment, and under the supervision of expert mechanics. Approximately 60 enrollees in each shop especially selected from various camps in each district will be on duty in each shop. Plans are being rapidly completed for the three central repair shops in California, one to be located at Arcadia, in southern California, one at Stockton, and the other at Redding. There will be a shop at Reno also.

Further information on the July enrollment period may be obtained from J. O. Christensen, located at 825 Harrison Street, Oakland who is the CCC selecting agent for Alameda County.
